CHAIRPERSON'S STATEMENT

ZACC Chairperson
Mr Michael Reza

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission hereby presents its annual report for the year 2023. This report is submitted in accordance with the provisions of Section 323 of the Constitution of Zimbabwe Amendment No. 20 of 2013. I wish to thank the former ZACC Chairperson, Honourable Justice Loyce Matanda-Moyo who diligently led the Commission until her appointment in October 2023 as Prosecutor General of the National Prosecuting Authority.

The contents of this report are largely, a reflection of the work done under the guidance of the former Chairperson Justice L Matanda-Moyo as my tenure at the ZACC started on 20 March, 2024. Under the steadfast leadership of Justice Matanda-Moyo, the Commission undertook significant strides in relentless pursuit of combatting corruption. Her dedication and commitment laid a strong foundation upon which we build on. I extend my sincere appreciation for her exemplary service and tireless efforts in advancing the mandate of the Commission.

This report reflects on the accomplishments, challenges, and initiatives of the Commission throughout the past year. The Commission remains resolute in its commitment to upholding the rule of law, fostering transparency, and promoting accountability across all sectors of society.

STRATEGIC FOCUS

In fulfilment of the Constitutional mandate and in line with the Commission’s vision and mission, the strategic thrust for the year 2023 placed more emphasis on prevention of corruption and asset recovery. However, investigations for criminal prosecution also remained a top priority.

To improve service delivery, the Commission prioritised recruitment of critical staff and ensured capacitation of existing members through training and internal secondments. The Commission also established a Monitoring and Evaluation Unit to help evaluate the effectiveness of the Commission’s work and strategies.

For the year 2023, the Commission received a significant amount of budgetary support from the Government. This enabled the Commission to invest in qualified and motivated human capital which is critical in meeting set targets. To augment the funding received from the Consolidated Revenue Fund, the Commission forged partnerships with development partners in the areas of skills capacitation and implementation of some of the activities.

Focus was also placed on building strong institutions through the establishment of Integrity Committees and the signing of Integrity Pledges. This initiative resulted in various public and private sector institutions voluntarily taking part in capacitating their personnel with strategies to detect corruption early. Strong, accountable, and transparent institutions are an anathema to corruption.

The Commission conducted extensive and comprehensive compliance assessments, spot-checks, systems and processes reviews in the Ministries, Departments and Agencies (MDAs). As part of the prevention of corruption measures, the Commission intensified Public Education in the form of Anti-Corruption Awareness campaigns. The Provincial Awareness campaigns were launched in Manicaland, Mashonaland West and Matabeleland South. The Commission also conducted anti-corruption clinics in urban areas, targeting perceived hotspots such as the Vehicle Inspection Department (VID) among others.

LOOKING FORWARD

In the year 2024, the Commission endeavours to recruit more personnel to bolster its staff complement in the offices set up in Bulawayo, Chinhoyi, Gweru, Mutare, Masvingo and Bindura. The Commission acknowledges the importance of integrity for a virtuous society and as a result, a deliberate campaign to inculcate values of integrity to the citizens, from primary school level, will be launched. Visibility, collaboration, and networking will also be intensified through Public Education, the Media, signing of Memoranda of Understanding and operationalisation existing ones. The Commission remains committed to its constitutional mandate of combatting corruption in its various forms, both in public and private sectors. Cooperation and collaboration with all citizens will also be on top of the agenda.

The fight against corruption is being guided by the National Anti-Corruption Strategy (2020-2024) which is due for review this year. The Commission is committed to working with all stakeholders in ensuring that a new and strengthened strategy is developed to support the development aspirations of Zimbabwe. The Commission is appreciative of the National Anti-Corruption Strategy Steering Committee and its sub committees for all their efforts of ensuring that collectively, Zimbabweans fight corruption.

APPRECIATION

My appreciation to the ZACC team for their dedication towards the achievement of the Constitutional mandate. Special appreciation to the President of the Republic of Zimbabwe, His Excellency Dr. Emmerson Dambudzo Mnangagwa for charting a vision which places at its core, the fight against corruption. I would also like to thank the Government of Zimbabwe and its specialised agencies for the continued support to the cause of fighting corruption. The Commission also appreciates development partners, civil society, and the citizens in general for supporting the work.

Together we can end corruption.

CHAIRPERSON

MR. MICHAEL REZA

ZIMBABWE ANTI-CORRUPTION COMMISSION

Introduction

1. INTRODUCTION

This annual report details the activities and operations of the Commission for the year 2023. The report will inform Government, Legislature, members of the public and other key stakeholders of the efforts of the Commission in fulfilling its mandate of combatting corruption during the year under review. The Commission's operations were guided by its Strategic Plan for the period 2021-2025 which aligns with the development aspirations of Zimbabwe as outlined in the National Development Strategy (NDS1). This plan aims to address the evolving trends of corruption to incorporate recovery of illicit assets, international cooperation, prevention of corruption by strengthening internal controls and enhancing the integrity of public officials, and stimulating the support of key stakeholders who include members of the public.

1.1 MANDATE

The Commission is a law enforcement authority with a mandate of preventing corruption in both public and the private sector. The mandate is derived from Section 255 of the Constitution which provides for the functions of the Commission as the following;

- ▶ to combat corruption, theft, misappropriation, abuse of power and other improper conduct in the public and private sectors;
- ▶ to promote honesty, financial discipline and transparency in the public and private sectors;
- ▶ to receive and consider complaints from the public and to take such action in regard to the complaints as it considers appropriate;
- ▶ to direct the Commissioner General of Police to investigate cases of suspected corruption and to report to the Commission on the results of any such investigations;

- ▶ to refer matters to the National Prosecuting Authority for prosecution;
- ▶ to require assistance from members of the Police Service and other investigative agencies of the state; and
- ▶ to make recommendations to Government and other persons on measures to enhance integrity and accountability and prevent improper conduct in the public and private sectors.

Section 12 of the Anti-Corruption Commission Act [Chapter 9:22] provides further functions for the Commission which are:

- ▶ to monitor and examine the practices, systems and procurement procedures of public and private institutions; and
- ▶ to enlist and foster public support in combatting corruption in society;
- ▶ to instruct, advise and assist any officer, agency or institution in the elimination or minimization of corruption;
- ▶ to assist in the formulation of practices, systems and procurement procedures of public and private institutions with a view to the elimination of corrupt practices.
- ▶ to advise on ways of strengthening anti-corruption legislation;
- ▶ to recommend to the Government that it ratify and domesticate relevant international legal instruments aimed at combatting corruption.

Governance

2. GOVERNANCE

2.1 ESTABLISHMENT OF THE ZIMBABWE ANTI-CORRUPTION COMMISSION

The Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission is a constitutional body established in terms of Section 254 of the Constitution of Zimbabwe Amendment (No. 20), 2013 and the Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission Act [Chapter 9:22] with the primary objective of combatting corruption in both the public and private sectors.

2.2 THE COMMISSION

For the greater part of the year, the establishment of the Commission consisted of the Chairperson Honourable Justice Loyce Matanda Moyo who was appointed as the Prosecutor General on the 5th of October 2023 and six Commissioners. The Commission is very much appreciative of the immense contributions made by the former Chairperson towards the fight against corruption.

The Board roles and responsibilities are enshrined in the Anti-Corruption Commission Act [Chapter 9:22], Public Entities Corporate Governance Act [Chapter 10:31]. In compliance with these Acts, the Commission has put in place governance structures that include the Board, as the decision-making authority and Committees to support the functions of the Board. The Commission has also ensured that there is a Board Charter and a Code of Ethics to govern the meetings. The Commission has seven (7) Committees established to ensure the efficient implementation of the Commission mandate. Their operations are guided by the Terms of Reference (TORs). The Committees are Audit and Risk; Communications and Media Liaison; Finance, Administration, and Investment; Human Resources, Learning and Development; Investigations; Legal and Asset Recovery; Prevention and Corporate Governance. The Commission is required by the Board Charter, to hold at least one meeting every quarter. Also, extra ordinary sessions are held when the need arises.

2.3 2023 ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

During the year under review, the Commission held its Annual General Meeting (AGM) in July 2023, in line with the provisions of Section 33(3) of the Public Entities and Corporate Governance Act (PECOG). This was the third Annual General meeting held since inception. The AGM served as a platform to review the performance of the Commission for the year 2022, to present the Commission's Financial Statements for the years ending 31 December 2019, 2020, 2021 and 2022 and the report of ZACC operations for the year 2022. The year 2022 was themed the "year of implementation," this theme was considered from a background where the Commission adopted several mechanisms and strategies for the year 2023, to eradicate corruption through increased engagement with all Citizens and intensified cooperation with relevant stakeholders.

The AGM was attended by senior Government officials from the Office of the President and Cabinet; Ministry of Finance and Economic Development; Parliament of Zimbabwe; Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe; National Prosecuting Authority; the Auditor General's Office; Zimbabwe Republic Police; Financial Intelligence Unit; Judicial Service Commission; Public Service Commission, Ministry of Justice, Legal and Parliamentary Affairs, representatives from Law Society of Zimbabwe; Civil Society, private sector, members of the media and Development Partners.

2.4 STRATEGIC PLAN REVIEW

The Commission held its strategy review meeting from 30 October to 3 November 2023. The review meeting was a platform to assess the Commission's performance for the year 2023 against set targets, to review the strategies employed and realign interventions. The Annual Plan and the Executive Secretary's Performance 2023 Contract were reviewed within the context of the Government Programme Based Budgeting Framework and in line with the National Development Strategy (NDS1) and the ZACC Strategic Plan (2021-2025). The outcome was the constitution of new performance targets and a framework guided by the Office of the President and Cabinet (OPC) and the Public Service Commission (PSC).

The Commission also conducted a review of the previously agreed corporate governance issues such as mandate execution, evaluation of performance contracting, internal policies, leadership expectations, reporting structures, organogram and working relationships.

2.5 ESTABLISHMENT OF THE MONITORING AND EVALUATION UNIT

The Commission introduced monitoring and evaluation to its operations by establishing a Unit focused on tracking progress of set goals and targets, evaluating performance indicators, outcomes, and assessing the impact of the activities. Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) plays a vital role in enhancing the effectiveness of the Commission in combatting corruption. It ensures that ZACC's initiatives are aligned with strategic goals and objectives. The Unit is also expected to foster a culture of transparency, accountability continuous improvement which will enable the Commission to optimise operations, identify areas for improvement, while aligning with its mission to combat all forms of corruption in the private and public sector in Zimbabwe.

The introduction of M&E is testament of the Commission's commitment to evidence-based decision-making, strategic planning, and organisational effectiveness. In 2023, the M&E Unit commenced a market research, analysis of trends, challenges, and stakeholder feedback to inform decision-making and strategies. This is ongoing and is expected to be completed in the year 2024.

2.6 ZACC INTEGRITY COMMITTEE

The Commission established an Integrity Committee (IC) as part of implementation of the National Anti-Corruption Strategies (NACS). This Committee is made up of officers from all Units and is chaired by the General Manager responsible for Prevention of Corruption and deputised by the Finance Manager. The Compliance and Systems Unit is the Secretariat to the IC. The Committee reports to the Accounting Officer who is also the appointing authority. In addition, the Committee also reports to the Prevention and Corporate Governance Committee, that is responsible for all the activities related to the prevention of Corruption in both public and private sectors. Since its establishment, the Committee has undergone training and conducted sensitisation of ZACC employees on their role in complementing the IC functions. Together with the Monitoring and Evaluation Unit, the IC reviewed departmental policies and made recommendations to mitigate risks in the Commission among other activities.

2.7 SENIOR MANAGEMENT

The Secretariat is headed by the Executive Secretary who is appointed in terms of the Anti-Corruption Commission Act [Chapter 9:22] as read with the Public Entities and Corporate Governance Act [Chapter 10:31]. The Executive Secretary is supported by five (5) General Managers responsible for Investigations, Legal Services, Prevention of Corruption, Human Resources, Learning and Development, and Finance and Administration departments. The Executive Secretary is the Accounting Officer and head of all operations undertaken by the Commission and ensures implementation of the Programme Based Budgeting in line with NDS 1.

The five (5) departments are complemented by Units within ZACC which all report to the Executive Secretary. These departments and units have been strategically placed into three pillars namely Corporate Affairs, Prevention of Corruption and Combatting Corruption.

Corporate Affairs

3. CORPORATE AFFAIRS

3.1 INTRODUCTION

Under the Corporate Affairs programme are the departments and Units that provide support services to the key operational departments namely Human Resources, Learning and Development, External Relations and International Conventions, Communication and Media Liaison, Finance, Administration, Internal Audit, Monitoring and Evaluation. These departments and units are responsible for ensuring improved access to ZACC services through increased visibility, accessibility, networking, and stakeholder engagement.

3.2 HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT

3.2.1 STAFF ESTABLISHMENT

The success of the Commission is attributed to the performance of its employees who have worked hard to achieve organisational goals. This success has been achieved by placing importance on recruiting the right mix of talent based on merit, inclusivity, gender and ethnicity. In addition, the Commission also considers aptitude, suitability, qualifications, experience, and integrity in its recruitment process. The Commission further implemented strategies to address the succession and gender gaps including planned recruitment, provision of training and development opportunities as well as staff capacitation drive and the implementation of performance management systems.

For the year ending 31 December 2023, the Commission appointed fifty-three (53) officers comprising twenty-seven (27) males and twenty-five (25) females to various positions in line with the diversity policy bringing the total staff complement to two hundred and twenty-two (222), of which one hundred and twenty-four (124) are males and ninety-eight (96) are females.

The staff growth and changes at the Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission over the period 2019-2023 indicate significant fluctuations in filled and vacant positions, reflecting the organisation's evolving workforce dynamics. The Commission has shown a gradual increase in the optimal establishment of posts over the years, indicating a growing organisational structure. Staff recruitment and retention have improved from 2019 to 2023, with a notable increase in filled positions. The proportion of vacant posts has fluctuated, with 2021 showing the highest number of vacancies at two hundred and sixty (260) following the additional one hundred and twenty-five (125) posts concurred by the Treasury. There is a trend of the Commission moving towards achieving higher staff capacity, with a considerable reduction in vacant positions in 2023 compared to previous years. Overall, the data reflects the Commission's efforts to enhance staff growth and optimise operational effectiveness through efficient staffing practices and addressing vacancies to support its mandate effectively.

The graph above offers insights into the gender composition of employees at the Commission over the period of 2019 to 2023. The male-to-female ratio varies each year, with the number of male employees exceeding female employees throughout the period. While there is a gender imbalance in favour of male employees, efforts are being made to enhance gender diversity and promote gender equality within the Commission to ensure a more inclusive and equitable work environment. Noteworthy, was the external recruitment of a female professional as Manager, Communication & Media Liaison who brought fresh skills needed by in the Commission.

3.2.2 PROMOTIONS, SECONDMENT AND ADVANCEMENT

All Commission promotions are based on merit. Internal candidates undergo rigorous interview processes. For the year 2023, the Commission promoted one male officer to the post of Manager, Compliance and Systems Review, exemplifying talent development within the Commission. Secondment from departments enrich the Commission with critical skills. Nine (9) officers were seconded internally to strengthen the organisation. The Commission promoted fifty-three (53) officers to higher ranks following the Government of Zimbabwe's upliftment of the freeze on upliftments. This signifies career progression within the Commission as well as organisational growth.

3.2.3 EMPLOYEE PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT

Staff performance is continuously monitored and evaluated through use of the Integrated Based Result Management System to enhance efficiency. Departments and individual employee's appraisals are key in the continuous assessment to evaluate the Commission's performance and identification of areas of improvement. This continuous assessment is crucial in ensuring that individual employees and departments ultimately contribute to the overall success of the Commission.

3.2.4 STAFF WELLNESS AND WELFARE PROGRAMMES

The Commission invested in employee wellness by introducing healthy lifestyles and sports programmes. These programmes are conducted in collaboration with the Premier Service Medical Aid Society (PSMAS) and are designed to enhance the health and general well-being of the employees. This is a strategy to improve performance and productivity. The health and wellness programmes included sports day, aerobics, counselling sessions, cancer awareness, mental health, sexual harassment conscientisation, frequent physical check-ups among other activities. The Commission also introduced provisions for emotional, social support to those in need.

3.2.5 HOUSING LOAN SCHEME

In the year 2023, Treasury availed Housing Loan funding for both junior officers and senior staff totalling ZWL 202,043,000.00. A total of twenty-four (24) officers benefitted from the scheme.

3.2.6 EDUCATION LOAN

The Commission introduced a flexible Education Loan for staff studying towards degrees that are closely related to the fight against corruption. During the year under review, the Commission approved five (5) applications from officers. As a result of these loans to officers, they developed new skills applicable to their line of work, enhanced their knowledge, and improved their performance and efficiency. These loans go a long way in motivating officers as well as cultivating staff loyalty towards ZACC.

3.2.7 CAPACITY DEVELOPMENT INITIATIVES

The Commission places great importance on Learning and Development, recognising it as a valuable investment in Human Capital Development and Innovation. This demonstrates the Commission's commitment to continuous improvement of staff, ensuring that its workforce remains competent and capable in fighting corruption and fulfilling its mandate effectively. In 2023, the Commission organised a series of trainings aimed at enhancing the skills and competencies of its members and staff, including Commissioners, Management, and staff to effectively carry out their duties, enhance their understanding of relevant systems and processes, and promote a culture of integrity and professionalism within the Commission.

These trainings, workshops, and conferences facilitated by the Commission covered a wide range of topics, including leadership, governance, team building, financial investigations, prevention of corruption, and the overall functioning of the Commission among others. Through investing in Human Capital Development and Innovation, the Commission sought to strengthen the capabilities of its officers and foster a culture of continuous learning.

3.2.8 PROBATION ASSESSMENT 2023

In the year under review, probationers underwent vigorous, comprehensive training to equip them with necessary skills and knowledge for their roles at the ZACC Training Academy. A total of fifty-six (56) probationers were thoroughly assessed for confirmation as permanent officers. These assessments were conducted meticulously over several months, spanning May, June, July, August, September, October, and November. This robust training and assessment process underscores our commitment to integrity, excellence, and the comprehensive development of our personnel to combat corruption effectively. The probationers from various departments proved their diverse talent and expertise being honed within the institution. Figure 3 is a graph depicting the number of officers that underwent probation assessment and their relevant departments.

3.3. EXTERNAL RELATIONS & INTERNATIONAL CONVENTIONS UNIT

In recognition of regional, continental, and international agreements against corruption, the broader government's diplomatic clout and the Commission's growing links with the external world, the External Relations and International Conventions Unit was established to drive a more focused approach to the Commission's collaboration with the external environment. The Unit is specifically charged with the responsibility to initiate, nurture, promote and maintain excellent relations between the Commission and other relevant institutions which include inter alia; government agencies, Civil Society Organizations (CSOs), fellow anti-corruption agencies in other countries as well as international organisations. In the same vein, the Unit bears the responsibility to drive not only participation but also compliance of the Commission and the country with international anti-corruption conventions such as SADC Protocol Against Corruption, African Union Advisory Board on Corruption (AUABC) and United Nations Convention Against Corruption (UNCAC) on preventing and combatting corruption.

Technology and increased stakeholder collaboration is borne out of the realisation that due to emerging factors such as hyper-globalisation, transnational crimes and proliferation of technology, corruption is increasingly becoming complex to address singlehandedly, hence the importance of forging relations with stakeholders. The strengthening of these relations requires constant engagement through the operationalisations of Memorandum of Understanding and regional and international engagements.

The Unit therefore, has a mandate to liaise with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (MOFAIT) and the Office of the President and the Cabinet (OPC) on all bilateral and multi-lateral agreements and country review processes in anti-corruption measures, facilitate Mutual Legal Assistance (MLAs), coordinate conferences, meetings and dialogues hosted by the Commission and mobilise financial and technical resources through development partners among other functions.

3.3.1. STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENTS

In order to establish formal partnerships between the Commission and other relevant institutions, in the year 2023, the Commission signed eight (8) Memoranda of Understanding (MOUs) with the following institutions; the Zimbabwe Human Rights Commission (ZHRC), Zimbabwe Environmental Law Association (ZELA), Research Council of Zimbabwe (RCZ), the Office of Integrity and Anti-Corruption (PIAC) under the African Development Bank (AfDB), Special Investigations Unit (SIU) of South Africa, East West Management Institute (EWMI) under the Partnerships for Justice, Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) of Malawi and the Accountability Lab (AL). These MoUs were meant to formalise relations, foster increased mutual understanding and alignment of goals between the Commission and these institutions. Through provisions and agreements set in the MoUs, the Commission can now easily extend its constitutional mandate of combatting all forms of corruption in both public and private sectors. The establishment of MoUs springs from the understanding that the business of fighting corruption requires synergies, collaboration, and support from different actors.

The Commission also ensured the operationalisation of MoUs signed in previous years. These included MoUs between the Commission and the following institutions: Public Service Commission (PSC), the Association for Certified Fraud Examiners (ACFE), Bindura University of Science Education (BUSE), Procurement Regulatory Authority of Zimbabwe (PRAZ), Zimbabwe Women Against Corruption Trust (ZWACT), Raoul Wallenberg Institute (RWI), University of Zimbabwe (UZ) and the Directorate on Corruption and Economic Crimes (DCEC) of Botswana.

Of note was the implementation of the MoU with the Public Service Commission where ZACC and PSC agreed to incorporate preventative measures into the public service to ensure integrity and accountability. In addition, the MoU with DCEC and RWI has been instrumental in terms of providing a platform for benchmarking, sharing information and learning best practices of anti-corruption. The implementation of the MoU with DCEC culminated in exchange visits, training of ZACC investigators, participation in the African and International Anti-Corruption Day Commemorations hosted by each country and the Botswana Pitso (anti-corruption dialogue) as well as provision of Mutual Legal Assistance (MLA).

ZACC also participated in the Raoul Wallenberg Human Rights capacity development programme in Sweden on stakeholder cooperation on issues of human rights and anti-corruption. The tour was undertaken together with the Zimbabwe Human Rights Commission, Zimbabwe Gender Commission and Zimbabwe Prisons and Correctional Services among other institutions.

3.4 INTERNATIONAL AND REGIONAL PLATFORMS

The Republic of Zimbabwe ascribes to the dictates of international and regional treaties and conventions as part of the international movement to prevent and combat corruption. These instruments are key in the strengthening of partnerships and ensuring collaboration among member states, in particular National Anti-Corruption Agencies to prevent, detect, punish, and eradicate corruption in the public and private sectors. Accordingly, the Commission participates in international anti-corruption fora such as; the Association of Anti-Corruption Authorities (AAACA), International Association of Anti-Corruption Authorities (IAACA), Global Operational Network of Anti-corruption Law Enforcements Agencies (GlobE), SADC Anti-corruption Committee (SACC), Eastern and Southern Africa Anti-Money Laundering Group (ESAAMLG), Financial Action Task Force (FATF), the SADC Ministerial Committee of the Organ (MCO), Bi-National Commission (BNC), Joint Permanent Commission Committees (JPCC) among others. The membership to these international institutions is critical in promoting one world in preventing and combatting corruption as they provide a platform for sharing technical expertise, financial and material support for capacity building programs, mutual legal assistance, intelligence, and strategic initiatives on combatting corruption around the world.

3.5 COMMUNICATIONS AND MEDIA LIAISON

Improving the image of the Commission has been one of the major priorities of the institution. In the year under review, media liaison was pivotal in building relationships with the media in advancing transparency, ensuring the effective dissemination of the Commission's messages, promoting public trust by managing the Commission's corporate image and continuously working on improving it. The media is a valuable stakeholder hence the importance of maintaining strong relationships with the industry to facilitate quality reporting to promote and enhance its professional image. The Communication and Media Liaison Unit is responsible for shaping and delivering accurate information to the public through various platform which include the media, exhibitions, social media platforms such as the website, Facebook, and a magazine. The platforms are used to provide regular updates to the public, raise awareness about corruption, promote integrity and encourage reporting.

3.5.1 STRATEGIC MEDIA COVERAGE

The Commission collaborated with various media organisations to provide information and raise the awareness of the citizens on the fight against graft. The Commission utilised television, radios, newspapers, websites, and social media platforms to disseminate information. Since 2019, the Commission has been collaborating with the Zimbabwe Broadcasting Corporation to produce a television programme, Combatting Corruption. The current affairs weekly programme was broadcast every Tuesday at 2100hrs on ZBC TV. A total of 40 programmes were produced. Television served as a platform to amplify the fight against corruption as it reaches millions of Zimbabweans, according to ZAMPS results.

Communications Officers Mr Joel Dhliwayo and Mr Maclean Mutede during a radio programme promoting the UN Day in Gweru

The Commission leveraged on its relations with the media and used the radio to amplify its work. In Manicaland Province, the Commission conducted anti-corruption awareness programmes on radio to educate the public of the ills of corruption, functions of ZACC as well as advise the public of the existence of ZACC offices in the provinces. The radio programmes were aired on Diamond FM, Nyangani FM, and Chimanimani FM. The Commission also featured on 98.4FM, ZBC's Classic 263 FM and Central FM Radios. The anti-corruption message was also amplified through Zimpapers' CapiTalk FM and Star FM Radios. Radio was also used to broadcast live, some of the Commission's events.

The Commission provided timeous updates on arrests to media practitioners, and this resulted in ZACC receiving an average of at least two mentions every day in the print and online media. For the year 2023, the Commission received over seven hundred (700) mentions in the media. The arrest of high-profile individuals received higher mentions and stimulated discussions on and offline. However, on most cases before the courts, the Commission noted that the media only mentioned ZACC's involvement on the accused's initial appearance. Most of the coverage of ZACC's activities and arrests maintained a neutral and professional tone although there were few instances where coverage was sensationalised.

The Commission also used other social media platforms to update Zimbabweans about the activities of the ZACC. The audiences on the Commission's social media platforms grew by 30 percent, signifying increased interest by the public to stay updated on the progress regarding the anti-corruption fight.

3.5.2 ANTI-CORRUPTION MEDIA AWARDS

The highlight of the Commission's visibility initiatives in the year 2023 was the inaugural Anti-Corruption Media Awards which were held in November in Harare. The awards sought to inspire media practitioners to be proactive in the fight against corruption and to celebrate the indispensable role played by the media in fostering accountability. The Anti-Corruption Media Awards had five (5) winners namely, the overall Anti-Corruption Investigative Reporter of the Year and Investigative Reporters of the Year in the following sub-categories, Economic Crimes, Public Interest and Service Delivery and Institutional Corruption.

The winning entry under the Service Delivery sub-category exposed malfeasance within Bulawayo City Council. The local authority reportedly demanded a sponsored trip to Botswana from a company which had sought to lease a Council owned farm so that they could award the tender. On the Economic Crimes sub-category, the winning entry exposed the Lithium ore smuggling route and the factors aiding the smuggling, thereby prejudicing the country of revenue through taxes. The winning entry on the Institutional Corruption sub-category exposed malpractices obtaining at Lupane State University. These included irregular tender awarding, and inflating invoices and bills in procurement services.

Under the Public Interest sub-category, the winning entry exposed how drug dealers are now using schools as hideouts for their illicit business. Finally, the winning entry for the Anti-Corruption Investigative Reporter Award exposed corruption at Sakubva General Hospital where expecting mothers were forced to pay bribes to receive services. One TV presenter was recognised as an Anti-Corruption Champion for his significant contribution to raising awareness on issues of corruption through the television program "Combatting Corruption". He was appreciated for his ability to engage viewers and mobilise support for the anti-corruption agenda. His dedication solidified his position as a champion in the fight against corruption.

3.5.3 Branding

The Commission embarked on a comprehensive branding initiative, strategically designed to enhance its visibility, and fortify communication of its mandate, mission, vision, and core values. ZACC offices in Masvingo, Bulawayo, Midlands, and Harare Provinces, were substantially branded.

The branding encompassed strategic positioning of banners, installation of door labels, and snapper frames. Beyond providing a clear organisational identity, these enhancements fostered a profound sense of purpose within the Commission, reinforcing the unwavering commitment to visibility. The resultant unified visual identity served as an enduring reminder of ZACC's mission to uphold integrity and transparency. The Commission also mounted billboards at the Mutare and Head Office in Mt. Pleasant, Harare as well as directional signs to help members of the public to easily locate ZACC offices.

3.5.4 COMMEMORATIONS

In the year 2023, the Commission commemorated the 20th Anniversary of the adoption of the African Union Convention on Preventing and Combatting Corruption (AUCPCC) in Chinhoyi, Mashonaland West Province and hosted the International Anti-Corruption Day Commemorations in Gweru, Midlands Province. The commemorations are meant to provide a platform for countries to reflect on the strides they have made in the fight against corruption; raise awareness on the negative impact of corruption on societies and advocate for transparency, accountability, and integrity in public and private sector.

Zimbabwe signed UNCAC in 2003 and ratified it in 2004. The Convention has provisions covering various aspects of corruption prevention, criminalisation, international cooperation, asset recovery, and technical assistance. On preventive measures, the Commission is promoting integrity and accountability in public administration through establishment of Integrity Committees among other strategies. Zimbabwe is also compliant on international cooperation. The country cooperates with other international agencies in the investigation and prosecution of corruption offenses, including extradition, mutual legal assistance, and asset recovery. In addition, the Commission has also set up the Asset Forfeiture and Recovery arm which is mandated to coordinate the identification, tracing, freezing, confiscation, and repatriation of proceeds of corruption.

While Zimbabwe has taken some steps to implement UNCAC provisions, there are areas where compliance remains a challenge. There are gaps and inconsistencies in the legal framework hindering effective implementation and protection of whistle-blowers and criminalisation of bribery for foreign nationals. Accordingly, the Commission continued to lobby for the development of the whistle-blower and witness protection legislation. In addition, the Commission lobbied for the fast tracking of the alignment of the Anti-Corruption Commission Act [Chapter 9:22] to the Constitution of Zimbabwe Amendment (No. 20), 2013; reviewing and harmonisation of the Anti-Corruption Act [Chapter 9:22] with the Prevention of Corruption Act [Chapter 9:16], the strengthening of the Money Laundering and Proceeds of Crime Act Chapter [Chapter 9:24] to among other things, designate ZACC as an enforcement agency in corruptly acquired assets.

3.5.5 EXHIBITIONS AND SHOWS

The Commission used platforms such as the Zimbabwe International Trade Fair and agricultural shows to showcase ZACC's mandate and celebrate milestones. In April 2023, the Commission participated at the Zimbabwe International Trade Fair (ZITF) where it was showcasing its Integrity Campaign under the tag line "Act with Integrity and Inspire."

The Commission also exhibited at the Harare, Mashonaland West, and Manicaland Agricultural shows. It was the first time that the Commission participated in the Mashonaland West Agricultural Show. The shows amplified the Commission's visibility, presence, and impact in the provinces, particularly Manicaland and Mashonaland West where the Commission has set up offices as part of its decentralisation strategy.

3.6 AWARDS RECEIVED

ZACC Chairperson of the Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission, Justice Matanda Moyo was honoured as the 2023 outstanding Woman of the year in Business by MEGAFEST Holdings. She was also named among the fifty (50) most Inspirational Women in Zimbabwe by the Women Corporate Directors Network Zimbabwe (WCDNZ). The award and honour were recognition of Justice Matanda Moyo's inspirational leadership which transformed the Commission into a formidable institution heroically working to hold the corrupt to account, inculcate ethical conduct and discipline in the private and private sector. The Institute of Public Relations and Communication Zimbabwe also recognised Communications and Media Liaison Officer, Maclean Mutede as a Young Public Relations Communications of the year (under 40 years) for his work in ensuring the visibility, provision of information and management of the Commission's image.

4. PREVENTION OF CORRUPTION

4.1 INTRODUCTION

The Prevention and Corporate Governance department's contribution to the Commission's statutory roles include examining the practices and processes of government departments and public bodies by ensuring compliance, strengthening existing systems and eliminating corrupt practices. The Commission undertakes public awareness campaigns to educate citizens on the need to shun corruption and uphold integrity. Several strategies which include partnerships with institutions, both public and private, to prevent corruption by promoting good corporate governance and sound internal controls are employed.

Under the Prevention and Corporate Governance, priority is accorded to areas of public administration impacting on livelihoods and service delivery as well as projects and programs that receive government funding. The priority areas are identified in line with NDS1 and Vision 2030 which encourages all entities and individuals to contribute to national development, while ensuring that corruption does not derail these national goals.

The Commission also employed the prevention-at-source strategy by providing proactive and early prevention measures which led to the establishment of Integrity Committees in both public and private institutions. To promote integrity amongst citizens, a program to roll out the signing of Integrity Pledge was initiated during the period under review. Through the Compliance and Systems Review Unit, the Commission established partnerships with regulatory authorities and professional bodies representing different sectors to enhance the corruption prevention capabilities of the private sector.

Corruption prevention and integrity elements are being incorporated in the operations of these entities through adopted Action Plans. The Commission through the Public Education Unit is also collaborating with Civic Society groups and relevant government departments in the prevention of corruption while also targeting school children under the "Catch Them Young" drive which is implemented in partnership with school authorities and regulators to nurture a corrupt free generation. Conducting research on the impact of corruption on government funded projects and institutions is also a priority.

4.2.1 COMPLIANCE AND SYSTEMS REVIEWS

As part of the Commission's strategy, under the Prevention and Corporate governance arm, Compliance and System Review is used to promote ethical values and entrench a culture of integrity in the public and private sectors. These prevention tools play an integral role in strengthening institutional systems that are necessary for the prevention of corruption and improvement of corporate governance practices for the achievement of organisational goals, objectives, and ultimately, socio-economic development in the country. Compliance spot checks, systems reviews, and establishment of integrity committees are strategies employed by the Commission to identify and eliminate avenues for corruption, strengthen existing systems and promote ethical business and professional conduct.

In the year 2023, the Commission conducted fifty-eight (58) comprehensive compliance spot checks and four (4) systems reviews at various institutions including Local Authorities, Independent Commissions, Government Ministries such as the Ministry of Mines and Mining Development, the Ministry of Health and Childcare, the National Social Security Authority (NSSA), the Vehicle Inspection Department (VID) among other institutions.

The local authorities that were checked include the following: Mazowe Rural District Council; Norton Town Council; Hwange Local Board; Chinhoyi Municipality; Chegutu Municipality; Harare City Council, Karoi Town Council and Kadoma City Council. Systems reviews were conducted at the Council for Legal Education, Ministry of Mines and Mining Development, Zimbabwe United Passenger Company (ZUPCO) and the National Handling Services.

To ensure institutional compliance, the Commission monitors the organisations' adherence to governing internal policies and regulatory statutes. Issues of non-compliance and systems gaps were mainly identified in human resources management, financial management, pegging of stands, change of land use and reservation, allocation of stands and procurement. Some institutions were also found not complying with regards to the recommendations by the Auditor General.

A total of one hundred and ten (110) institutions and Government funded projects such as the Emergency Road Rehabilitation Programme (ERRP), Pfumvudza, Mbudzi Interchange Road Construction, Harare-Masvingo-Beitbridge Road construction, Gwayi-Shangani Dam and Bulawayo Water Pipeline construction were monitored since 2022.

4.2.2 TRAINING OF INTEGRITY COMMITTEES AND SIGNING OF INTEGRITY PLEDGES

As an inclusive and collaborative strategy to prevent corruption, the Commission has facilitated the establishment of Integrity Committees (ICs) and the signing of Integrity Pledges mainly in public sector institutions. Integrity Committees were established as part of the implementation of the broader strategies spelt out in the National Anti-Corruption Strategy. By 31 December 2023, the Commission, in collaboration with ZIMRA, Transparency International Zimbabwe (TIZ), ZINARA, Mutare City Council and the Zimbabwe Open University (ZOU) facilitated the training of sixty-nine (69) Integrity Committees in local authorities, government ministries, agencies and parastatals.

These committees are tasked with preventing corruption within their organisations through mainstreaming anti-corruption measures into daily operations. They are expected to collaborate with departments to promote ethical practices, strengthen governance, and implement tailor made corruption prevention plans. They also assess ethical cultures, monitor code of conduct compliance, handle anonymous reports, and report corruption to the Commission. The ICs aim to minimise corruption by instilling integrity, supporting employees that find themselves in moral dilemmas, and ensuring adherence to laws and codes. The concept of Integrity Committees and Integrity Pledges resonates with values enshrined in Chapter 9 of the Constitution of Zimbabwe which provides for the upholding of integrity, financial probity, professionalism, transparency, and accountability in public sector administration.

The Commission facilitated the signing of a total of one thousand one hundred and eleven (1111) Integrity Pledges (IPs) by individuals drawn from the PSC, local authorities, other Government Departments, Agencies, and members of the public. An Integrity pledge is a social contract through which a participant announces his or her commitment to act against corruption. The concept of IPs complements the establishment of Integrity Committees. Among those who signed integrity pledges were the Public Service Commission Chairman Dr Vincent Hungwe, PSC Commissioners and top Management, Ministers of State for Provincial Affairs and Devolution for Midlands Province and Mashonaland West Provinces respectively and Chiefs. The signing of the pledge by the Chairman of the Public Service Commission demonstrated dedication by the civil service and set a standard for integrity that others in the civil service could emulate. This has provided significance in inspiring the entire civil service to embrace Integrity Pledges.

4.2.3 ENGAGEMENT WITH PRIVATE SECTOR

In its efforts to prevent corruption in the private sector, the Commission engaged several institutions such as the Institute of Directors (IODZ) to facilitate the signing of integrity pledges and establishment of integrity committees in institutions that fall under its ambit. A steering committee was set up to spearhead the programme with the IPs and setting up of the ICs expected to take place in the coming year.

4.3 ANTI-CORRUPTION AWARENESS CAMPAIGNS

As part of the Prevention of Corruption and Corporate Governance programming, the Commission is championing preventative measures which include educating the citizens about the dangers of corruption, how best to evade it, how and where to report it. In the year 2023, the Commission undertook four broad campaigns. These are the Rural Anti-Corruption Awareness Campaigns, Urban Campaigns, Mainstreaming Anti-Corruption in Primary and Secondary Schools and the Vehicle Inspection Department Campaign. The campaigns were prompted by the following:

- The rise in corruption and rampant abuse of government social safety net schemes like Pfumvudza/Intwasa, food aid and to some extent legacy issues that were related to past mechanisation programmes.
- The urgent need to catch them young through integrating Anti-Corruption content into formal school curricular.
- The need to instill ethics among drivers by targeting learners and examiners at various VID depots.

4.3.1 RURAL ANTI-CORRUPTION AWARENESS CAMPAIGNS

The Commission conducted twenty-six (26) rural awareness campaigns in Manicaland, Mashonaland West and Matabeleland South provinces. The campaigns targeted the rural community leadership and the public in general. The campaigns adopted a multi-stakeholder approach by working with other government departments in line with the Whole of Government Approach, religious leaders, non-governmental organisations and Independent Commissions such as the National Peace and Reconciliation Commission and the Zimbabwe Human Rights Commission.

Some of the areas that were visited by the Commission are Magunje, Makonde, Murombedzi Business Centre, Karoi Town, Marange, Gwanda, Murambinda, Nyamakate Business Centre, Nyanga, Honde Valley, Chipinge and Chimanimani.

The Commission sent a strong message to the public on the importance of ethical practices in the transportation and distribution of farming inputs as well as food handouts. The rural awareness campaigns have so far resulted in recognisable and judicious distribution of government social safety net commodities and a rise in the reportage of corruption cases involving the abuse of Pfumvudza/Intwasa inputs.

URBAN CAMPAIGNS

The Commission held several anti-corruption campaigns in Harare, Chitungwiza, Norton, Epworth, Ruwa and Mutare. These campaigns were meant to foster a proactive stance towards dealing with corruption in urban and peri-urban settings in the country. Citizens in these areas are faced with critical shortage of goods and services and a number of them have succumbed to the vagaries of corruption at various public service points like city council offices, clinics, hospitals, schools, colleges etc. Hence, the campaigns were designed to educate the urban and peri-urban populace on the types, dangers, effects of corruption, and to encourage people to report corruption cases. The campaign's impact has seen a steady positive behavioural change towards anti-corruption issues by both the public and service providers. There is therefore a need to continuously engage and collaborate with officers in various institutions and members of the public in the grand fight against corruption.

4.3.3 MAINSTREAMING ANTI-CORRUPTION IN PRIMARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Since 2020, the Commission has been pursuing mainstreaming anti-corruption content into the school curriculum. This strategy was learnt through best practices from countries that are successful in fighting corruption. The concept of catching them young has worked in jurisdictions such as Hong Kong, Malaysia, South Korea among others. The Commission has observed that the focus in schools has been mainly on skills development and has overlooked issues of ethics which are important in raising ethical individuals who will be the future work force of the public service.

Working with the Ministry of Primary and Secondary Education (MoPSE), the Commission conducted consultations in five (5) provinces namely Mashonaland Central, Masvingo, Matabeleland South, Bulawayo, and Matabeleland North. The consultations solicited for the views of parents, teachers, and learners on whether it would be acceptable to mainstream anti-corruption content in different learning areas from Early Childhood Development (ECD) to high school level. The views obtained show that all the three groups of participants are receptive to the inclusion of anti-corruption content into the education curriculum from primary to high school levels. ZACC produced a report which was submitted to the MoPSE experts at Curriculum Development and Technical Services department. ZACC has also participated in several curriculum review meetings. The curriculum review process is still ongoing, and the Commission is envisaging that by the year 2025, anti-corruption content will be included in the education curriculum.

4.3.4 VEHICLE INSPECTION DEPARTMENT (VID) ANTI-CORRUPTION CAMPAIGN

As part of the Urban campaigns, the Commission deliberately targeted the Vehicle Inspection Department following several reports of corruption against VID officials. The Commission responded by arresting officials from VID, conducting corruption risk assessment and compliance checks at several VID depots in Harare, Chitungwiza, Mutare and Marondera.

These efforts were complemented by the launch of anti-corruption awareness campaigns at the respective depots.

The VID anti-corruption campaigns were meant to educate the public on the functions of the department, remind the officials at the Depots on the need to uphold integrity and ethics when discharging their mandate, address an upsurge in corruption among prospective drivers and VID examiners. Since a driver's license is one of the basic requirements for members of public in Zimbabwe, the demand has created an appetite for learners and examiners to explore shortcuts to acquiring these licenses. The shortcuts have culminated in some members of the public paying bribes to procure drivers' licenses to avoid going through the driving tests. This is a concern to the Commission as these people end up endangering the lives of motorists and members of the public.

Issues noted were lack of systems, lack of anti-corruption policies, systemic corruption, and poor supervision by the Ministry. Following results from the compliance checks and reports from the public, in the year 2024 the Commission will be conducting comprehensive systems review at all VID Depots to ensure that there is a solution to the highlighted issues.

4.4 RESEARCH

4.4.1 RESEARCH INTRODUCTION

Research and Knowledge Management (RKM) plays an instrumental role within the Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission as the Commission employs research in areas of public interest such as mining, health, education, water and sanitation that are vulnerable to corruption. Through research, the Commission undertakes in-depth inquiries into issues to come up with findings and recommendations to inform policy decisions. Research findings are thus disseminated using various platforms and media to generate knowledge.

4.4.2 CORRUPTION RISK ASSESSMENT STUDIES

4.4.2.1 ZIMRA CORRUPTION RISK ASSESSMENT (CRA)

In the year 2023, the Commission conducted a Corruption Risk Assessment at the Zimbabwe Revenue Authority (ZIMRA). The study targeted Zimbabwe's border entry points namely Plumtree, Beitbridge, Forbes, Nyamapanda, Kanyemba, Mukumbura and Chirundu. The overarching goal of the study was to identify corruption risks and develop a risk mitigation/prescriptive/treatment plan for adoption by ZIMRA. The objectives of the Corruption Risk Assessment (CRA) study were to identify corruption risks at ZIMRA; assess effectiveness of internal controls being employed by ZIMRA and devise mitigation measures of identified risks for possible adoption by ZIMRA.

Table 3 below shows a few of the common corruption risks that were identified at the border posts.

Risk Statement		Risk Narration	Proposed Mitigation Measures
Inconsistent weak patrols	and	Some Border post patrol teams comprise of 7-8 officers including ZRP and Army. The patrol teams normally knock off at 10pm while smugglers' activities are usually from 12 midnight to 4am. The patrol team usually use NP300 vehicles for the patrols whereas the smugglers have an advantage of advanced high terrain vehicles such as GD6 which are faster.	The government should consider resourcing the Border Post patrols as well as strengthening the border with 24-hour surveillance.
Absence of electronic management systems such as	of	No digital devices for surveillance processes at all border posts.	There is need for installation of advanced digital devices at all border posts.

e-devices surveillance and equipment.
Frequency of day trippers and cross border transporters (malayitsha) crossing daily.	The day trippers and cross border transporters get acclimatised to ZIMRA officials through constant travel through the border to the extent of casual interaction and relationships with officials. The risk may arise when officials may fail to apply the strict rules and regulations	There is need for periodic rotation of staff deployed in border posts.
Porosity of the border post	The major challenge at Border Posts is that there is lax security. This poses a risk of high prevalence of smuggling, syndicates, and connivance in corrupt activities	Increase levels of security and remove unnecessary departments manning the border who end up forming cartels.

4.4.2.2 VID CRA

The Commission conducted a Corruption Risk Assessment study targeting selected VID depots in Zimbabwe. The Eastlea, Belvedere, Chitungwiza, Bindura, Kadoma, Marondera and Mutare depots were used as sites of study. The study sought to identify common risks and suggest mitigation that can be applied to address the challenge.

- ▶ The common risks associated with the study included: Risk associated with test driving; information risk, Risk associated with teaching instructors and misrepresentation. To mitigate, the ZACC study recommended: Computerise learner's licenses to eliminate corruption; conduct refresher courses for drivers every 5 years; rotate staff to avoid familiarity; place suggestion boxes; have toll-free numbers to report corruption; programs to educate depot officials as well as driving school drivers and all prospective learners' license and have a sub-police post at the depot.

4.4.3 DISSEMINATION OF RESEARCH FINDINGS

During the period under review, the research findings were disseminated to various stakeholders and the general citizens. The major purpose of disseminating findings is to ensure that some key recommendations are implemented. This also provides checks and balances in as far as efforts to inform policy is concerned. The platforms for disseminating the findings served to share knowledge, creating awareness, facilitating decision-making, building consensus, promoting capacity building, engaging stakeholders, and promoting organisational learning. The Commission made use of workshops, meetings, the media, and internal media platforms to disseminate the findings of various research reports.

Combating Corruption

5 COMBATTING CORRUPTION

5.1 INTRODUCTION

Without strong will and watchdog institutions, corruption would spread its tentacles in every sphere of human endeavour and the achievement of Zimbabwe’s Vision 2030 will remain a mirage. In pursuit of the mandate of fighting all forms of corruption in the public and private sector in Zimbabwe, the Commission among other strategies prioritises Combatting Corruption as a programmatic pillar. The programme is anchored on two approaches, that is investigations and asset forfeiture and recovery. Combatting Corruption plays a critical role in ensuring that perpetrators of corruption are brought to book and proceeds of crime are recovered and forfeited to the state. Since establishment, the Combatting Corruption programme has been improving in its performance year by year.

5.2 REPORTS RECEIVED

In the year 2023, the Commission received a total of nine hundred and ninety-nine (999) complaints of suspected corruption. These reports were referred to the Selection Committee set up in 2022 to assess received reports before investigations could commence. This Committee assesses whether the reported cases fall within the mandate of the Commission and are within the set threshold in terms of the values of the prejudice involved, status of the persons involved in the alleged offences and impact to the society in general.

As depicted in the pie chart, 72% of the cases, which translates to seven hundred and twenty-one (721) were referred to the Investigations Department for investigations. Ninety-nine (99) cases were referred to the Legal and Asset Recovery department for legal opinion and further management, whilst 3.6%, which is thirty six (36) cases, were referred to the Zimbabwe Republic Police in terms of section 255 of the Constitution of Zimbabwe. Nine cases, which account for one percent of the total reports were referred to the Compliance and Systems Review Unit within the Commission as they were reports on governance issues. A further one percent was referred to the Asset Forfeiture and Recovery Unit for civil forfeiture. The remaining 13%, which is one hundred and twenty-nine (129) of the cases referred to the Selection Committee were still awaiting further information for review by the Committee.

From the above statistics, the cases received in 2023 were 46% higher than those received in the previous year where the Commission received six hundred and eighty-four (684) cases. Of the total number of complaints received, Harare Province recorded seven hundred and ninety-one (791) cases which is the highest figure as illustrated in the below table.

5.3 CRIME STATISTICS

Fraud and criminal abuse of duty were the most prevalent cases dealt with by the Commission during the year under review, accounting for 52.35% of received cases. This is a slight decrease in the number of corruption related cases, from three hundred and thirty-five (335) reported in 2022 compared to the three hundred and ten (310) reported in 2023. This translates to a 7.5% decrease. The decrease is attributable to prevention initiatives by the Commission which include compliance and systems reviews, spot checks done in local authorities and public entities resulting in some arrests and strengthened operating systems. Criminal abuse of duty cases are mostly concentrated in local authorities, Ministries, and other public entities, and among appointed officials such as Chiefs and Village Heads.

5.4 SECTOR ANALYSIS OF THE REPORTS RECEIVED

A sectorial analysis of the reports received by the Commission in the year 2023 indicates that, out of nine hundred and ninety-nine (999) reports, one hundred and nine (109) representing 10.91% were against land barons. A total of three hundred and thirty-one (331) cases representing 33.13% were against private persons, officials, or entities in the private sector. Five hundred and fifty-nine (559) were against public officials representing 56% of the cases.

From a total of five hundred and fifty-nine (559) reports received against public officials, one hundred and nine (109) were against public officials in local authorities, three hundred and sixty-six (366) against officials in public entities, and parastatals while eighty-four (84) reports were against public officials at government ministry level. The Commission handled thirty-eight (38) reports against elected officials, Chiefs, Headmen and Village Heads.

At Ministerial level, the Ministry of Justice and Parliamentary Affairs had the highest number of reports received with sixty one (61), followed by Ministry of Finance, Economic Development and Investment Portfolio at fifty nine (59), Ministry of Agriculture, Lands, Water, Climate and Rural Resettlement at fifty eight (58), Ministry of Primary and Secondary Education at forty seven (47), Ministry of Mines and Minerals at thirty three (33), Ministry of Local Government and Public Works twenty two (22) and Ministry of Public Service and Social Welfare with twenty one (21) among those with high numbers. Most of the allegations against officials from the local authorities relate to corruption in the sale of land or residential stands.

5.5 REFERRALS TO THE NATIONAL PROSECUTING AUTHORITY

The Commission referred two hundred and sixty-four (264) dockets to NPA of cases relating to corruption and economic crimes. This was a 97% increase compared to the previous year where one hundred and thirty-four (134) cases were referred.

From Figure 8., fraud had the highest number of cases referred to NPA forty-seven (47%) followed by Criminal abuse of duty eighteen (18%) and bribery with 13%.

5.6 DEMOGRAPHIC ANALYSIS OF THE REPORTS RECEIVED

Disaggregation of data according to gender is important for the Commission as it assists in establishing the nature of corrupt activities prevalent in a particular gender. The pie chart below depicts a demographic analysis of offenders by gender.

A demographic analysis of the criminal cases reported in 2023 shows that seven hundred and sixty-two (762) offenders were males, one hundred thirty-two (132) accused persons were females and one hundred and five were not specified (105). The unspecified ones are in most cases companies. This means that 76% of the total accused persons were males.

5.7 CONVICTIONS AND ACQUITTALS

The pie chart below shows the number of convictions and acquittals for the year 2023.

A total of forty (41) cases were concluded at courts, being twenty-nine (29) convictions and twelve (12) acquittals. This translates to a 71% conviction rate which is commendable work by the Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission and the National Prosecuting Authority.

5.8 JOINT INVESTIGATIONS

In line with the provisions of the United Nations Convention Against Corruption, the Constitution of Zimbabwe as well as the Anti-Corruption Commission Act which encourage cooperation between law enforcement agencies, the Commission collaborated with agencies like Zimbabwe Revenue Authority (ZIMRA) and the Zimbabwe Republic Police (ZRP) and conducted two (2) joint investigations in complex cases involving serious corruption in Premier Service Medical Aid Society and abuse of the Civil Servants Vehicle Rebate Scheme. The importance of joint investigations is to improve relations, prevent duplication of efforts and share expertise.

Demographics

Convictions and Acquittals

5.8.1 PSMAS INVESTIGATION

The Commission conducted joint investigations with the Zimbabwe Republic Police on matters involving embezzlement and mismanagement of media insurance contribution funds at the Premier Service Medical Aid Society (PSMAS) resulting in the arrest of six (6) members of the Executive Management and thirty-eight (38) doctors. The investigations covered all the ten (10) province and were conducted for over a month.

5.8.2 CIVIL SERVANTS MOTOR VEHICLE REBATE SCHEME

The Commission conducted a joint investigation with ZIMRA, to combat the abuse of the Civil Servants Motor Vehicle Rebate Scheme which was meant to benefit Civil Servants. The operation code named, "No to Abuse of Civil Servants Vehicle Import Scheme" began in June 2023. As of 31 December 2023, a total of two hundred and fifty-two (252) vehicles had been recovered.

5.9 ASSET FORFEITURE AND RECOVERY

The Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission continues to amplify investigations for asset recovery and forfeiture of proceeds of crime. Asset recovery of illicit proceeds of crime is an internationally used strategy that has proved effective in depriving criminals of enjoying proceeds of crime. Since the inception of the Asset Recovery and Forfeiture Unit in 2020, there has been a gradual increase of the number of financial investigations and non-conviction-based forfeiture and unexplained wealth orders. In 2023, the Asset Recovery and Forfeiture team received new officers and the establishment has grown over the years. Financial investigations were based on risk assessment analysis of the various sectors. Financial crime and money laundering were most prevalent in the fuel sector, followed by illegal land sales, smuggling and procurement. In the year 2023, inter-agency co-operation was amplified with the Commission making a total of two hundred and fifty (250) requests to several stakeholders.

5.9.1 CASE FILES REFERED TO THE NPA

The Commission conducted several seizures, completed, and referred thirty-nine (39) case files to the National Prosecuting Authority of both Unexplained Wealth Order and Civil Forfeiture applications valued at US$ 135 196 250.03. From the case files referred to the High Court, three (3) orders were granted in 2023, being one for Civil Forfeiture Order, one for Unexplained Wealth Order and one (1) for a Seizure Order. There are four (4) cases involving extra territorial investigations. The Commission has fifty (50) cases under investigation from these forty (40) cases and they involve females and ten (10) male subjects.

5.9.2 COURT ORDERS GRANTED

The Commission was granted a Civil Forfeiture order for a property valued at US$10 million dollars. The case involved the former Chief Executive Officer for ZINARA. The forfeiture was made in terms of Sections 79 and 80 of the Money Laundering and Proceeds of Crime Act (Chapter 9:24) after the Commission established that the former CEO acquired the property using proceeds of crime for offences which he committed when he was at the helm of ZINARA. The assets forfeited to the State include immovable properties, an insurance company, vehicles, tractors and 12 901 hectares of land located in leafy suburbs of Borrowdale and Glen Lorne in Harare. The Commission was granted an Unexplained Wealth Order against an employee of NetOne who was charged with fraud whilst in the employ of NetOne. The property is valued at $150 000. The Commission was granted a Seizure Order against a Masvingo businessman who was caught smuggling cigarettes from Zimbabwe to Mozambique. The subject was apprehended in Mutare trying to smuggle cigarettes using two trucks affixed with the same registration number plates.

Implementation Of The National Anti- Corruption Strategy

6. IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NATIONAL ANTI-CORRUPTION STRATEGY

6.1 Introduction

The National Anti-Corruption Strategy (NACS) was launched by His Excellency, President Dr. Emmerson Dambudzo Mnangagwa, in July 2020. A National Anti-Corruption Strategy Steering Committee was constituted with a membership representation of thirty-three (33) organisations to play an oversight role over the six (6) sub-committees/pillars. The Steering Committee deals with policy related issues and passing resolutions that are implemented by six (6) pillars or sub-committees namely:

- Support citizen empowerment and awareness of their rights and responsibilities relevant to the fight against corruption.
- Enhance the structures for deterrence, detection, adherence, and enforcement through improved compliance with anti-corruption and integrity management obligations and mechanisms across sectors.
- Increase public demand for transparency and accountability and rejection of corruption in government offices, ministries, agencies and State-Owned Enterprises (SOEs)/parastatals, public institutions, media houses and the private sector.
- Ensure protection of whistle-blowers and victims of corruption, thereby encouraging active participation in anti-corruption efforts by members of the public.
- Recover assets and proceeds from corruption crimes, and compensate damages inflicted on the state and corruption victims (individuals or institutions).
- Increased level of political parties' transparency, political will, and accountability.

6.2 NACS INITIATIVES

During the year 2023, the Commission coordinated three (3) National Anti-Corruption Strategy (NACS) meetings and several Subcommittee meetings as part of the implementation and monitoring of NACS. All six subcommittees contributed significantly to the fight against corruption through successful implementation of their Action plans.

Sub-Committee 1 participated in awareness programmes jointly with other sub-committees' members targeting schools resulting in the creation of integrity clubs in secondary schools. Capacity building of Sub-Committees 2 and 5 was supported by Zimbabwe Environmental Lawyer's Association (ZELA) to equip Law Enforcement Agencies (LEAs) with the capacity to deal with corruption within the natural resources' realm. In addition, Sub-committee 2 participated in joint operations with ZIMRA to plug the revenue leakages at points of entry and exit.

Sub-Committee 3 participated in various Integrity-building workshops across the country. This resulted in the establishment of integrity committees in the public and private sector institutions. Notably, ZIMRA organised a Joint NACS Workshop which drew participants from various stakeholders. During these forums, Sub-Committee 3 facilitated the signing of integrity pledges by public officials and non-public officials.

NACS Sub Committee 4 continued with efforts to lobby for the promulgation of the whistle blower legislation in line with UNCAC provisions. Zimbabwe is currently utilising the provisions of Section 14 (Prevention of victimisation) of the Prevention of Corruption Act [Chapter 9:16] in protecting whistle blowers while awaiting the promulgation of the comprehensive legislation whose principles have since been approved by Cabinet.

The NACS sub-committee 5 continued to spearhead the intensified collective fight against corruption through increased Asset forfeiture, seizure, and recovery. This pillar tabled various recommendations which were meant to strengthen asset recovery initiatives. However, NACS implementation ideals and prospects continued to witness low-keynote activities by sub-committee 6 with the lack of cooperation by the members.

6.3 NACS COLLABORATIVE AND NETWORKING MEETINGS

The implementation of NACS strongly relies on the collective efforts of sub-committees to strengthen collaborations and existing synergies so that they capitalise on the opportunities to leverage on the programmes implemented by various NACS stakeholders. During the period under review, Development Partners continued to avail significant support in strengthening the implementation of NACS. These activities are meant to promote access to justice whilst strengthening transparency and accountability in both public and private sectors. Such platforms continued to provide opportunities to strengthen the collective fight against corruption in Zimbabwe.

6.4 NACS ACHIEVEMENTS

In the year under review, the NACS Steering Committee made several notable achievements in its efforts to combat corruption. Some of these achievements include:

- ▶ Notable increase in the number of proceeds of crime recovered through joint operations with other stakeholders such as ZIMRA, FIU and ZRP.
- ▶ Crafting of draft Bills on Witness Protection and Whistle-blowers through collaboration of ZIMRA, Law Society of Zimbabwe, ZACC and Ministry of Justice and Parliamentary Affairs.
- ▶ Several mass media events on local broadcasting and physical awareness campaigns have brought huge impact in the form of awareness by citizens and resulted in increased number of corruption cases reported.
- ▶ To cultivate a culture of integrity in both citizens and institutions, the rolling out of signing of Integrity Pledges by top public officials and ordinary citizens was conducted throughout the country.

Some financial constraints resulted in some of the targeted tasks not being implemented. The Steering Committee was not able to hold its fourth meeting as it did not have a quorum after the reassignment of the Chairperson to the National Prosecuting Authority.

6.5 REVIEW OF THE NACS

The implementation cycle of the NACS ends in July 2024. Consequently, the AfDB has expressed interest in supporting the review of the NACS blueprint to establish the gaps between ideal and reality.

Budgetary Support

BUDGETARY SUPPORT

The Commission operations are wholly funded from the government Consolidated Revenue Fund (CRF). ZACC received an initial budget of ZWL$7.4 billion. Due to the increase in inflation the budget was increased to ZWL$21.7 billion translating to 193% increase. The Commission appreciates the upward review of the budget by the Ministry of Finance and Economic Development as it enabled the Commission to meet its targets and procure assets in particular one hundred and thirteen (113) core i7 laptops for officers and office furniture. Construction of the perimeter wall on Number 20 Northend property and minor refurbishments were also completed during the year under review. Through the Ministry of Finance, the Commission also received ICT equipment from the African Development Bank under the Debt Arrears Clearance Project. In addition, the Ministry of Finance availed eight (8) second hand vehicles to augment the Commission's fleet.

The Commission's Financial statements for the years 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022 have been audited. The Financial Statements for 2023 have been completed. In 2018 Commission was selected as one of the pilot entities to prepare financial statement using statement using International Public Sector Financial Statements (IPSASs). In 2022 Commission reported in both IFRS and IPSAS and in 2023 the Commission will report using the required IPSASs.

The Commission is experiencing challenges in securing office accommodation in Bulawayo Metropolitan, Bindura, Chinhoyi and Marondera as sellers are shunning nostro payments.

2023 Budget Analysis

In the year 2023 the original budget for the Commission was ZWL$ 7,378,820,000 broken down as follows: Compensation of employees ZWL$ 1,678,820,000 Use of goods and services ZWL$ 4.5 billion and ZLW$ 1,2 billion for Non Financial Assets. During the 2023 financial year, the Ministry of Finance and Economic Development revised the Commission's budget by ZWL$ 14,064,332,313. The total revised budget of the Commission amounted to ZWL$ 21,443,152,313 representing 191% increase. The cumulative expenditure for the ZACC vote was ZWL$ 20,835,827,592 which represented 97% budget utilization. The major cost drivers of the Commission were compensation of employees, domestic travelling expenses for operations, upskilling of staff, vehicle maintenance and procurement of tools of trade for the Secretariat. Below is the detailed budget performance for the ZACC vote.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. NATURE OF BUSINESS

The Zimbabwe Anti-Corruption Commission is a corporate body established in terms of Section 254 of the Constitution of Zimbabwe and the Anti-Corruption Commission Act [Chapter 9:22]. The mandate of the Commission is to combat corruption, economic crimes, abuse of power and improprieties in Zimbabwe. The principal activities are grouped into 3 programmes which are Corporate Affairs, Combating Corruption and Prevention of Corruption and these programmes are further divided into 7 sub programmes.

2 BASIS OF PREPARATION

2.1 Statement of Compliance

The financial statements of the Commission have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) and the International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee (IFRIC) pronouncement.

2.2 Basis of measurement

The financial statements of the Commission are based on the statutory records that are maintained under the historical cost convention except for some items of property, plant and equipment which are shown at revalued amounts.

The following CPI indices were applied;

For 2023 Conversion
	Index
December-23	96.74
December-22	74.78
December-21	52.70
December-20	44.03

2.3 Functional and presentation currency

The financial statements are presented in the Zimbabwean dollar (ZWL $) currency that was designated as the sole transactional, functional and reporting currency through Statutory Instrument 33 of 2019 (SI33/19) dated 22 February 2019 and Statutory Instrument 142 of 2019 (SI142/19) dated 24 June 2019. All the financial information presented has been rounded to the nearest dollar.

2.4 Critical accounting judgements, assumptions and estimates

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts presented in the financial statements and related disclosures. Use of available information and the application of judgement is inherent in the formation of estimates.

Actual results in the future could differ from these estimates which may be material to the financial statements. Significant judgements include:

i. Useful lives and residual values of property, plant and equipment

The Commission assesses useful lives and residual values of property, plant and equipment each year taking into account past experience and technology changes. The depreciation rates are set out in note 3.2.2 and no changes to these useful lives have been considered necessary during the year. Management has set residual values for all classes of property, plant and equipment at zero.

ii. Impairment and provisioning policies

At each statement of financial position date, the Commission reviews the carrying amount of its assets to determine whether there is indication that those assets suffered any impairment. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the assets is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment (if any). If the recoverable amount of an asset is estimated to be less than the carrying amount, the carrying amount is reduced to its recoverable amount. Impairment is recognised as an expense immediately, unless the relevant asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case the impairment is treated as a revaluation decrease.

In the event that, in the subsequent period, an asset that has been subjected to an impairment loss is no longer considered to be impaired, the value is restored and the gain is recognised in the statement of comprehensive income. The restoration is limited to the value which would have been recorded had the impairment adjustment not taken place.

3. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accounting policies applied in the preparation of these financial statements were consistent with those applied in the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2020.

3.1 Revenue recognition

Revenue is driven from government grants, consultancy service fee charges, donations from development partners and sale of statistical publications. Receipts are accounted for on accrual basis. Interest income is accrued over the period in which it is earned based on the underlying agreements. Other income is recognised in accordance with the underlying transactions and events.

3.2 Property Plant and Equipment

3.2.1 Recognition and measurement

Property, plant and equipment held for use in the supply of services or for administrative purposes, are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

3.2.2 Depreciation

Depreciation which is calculated on a straight line basis, is provided to write off the cost less the estimated residual value of fixed assets over their useful lives. The Commission assesses useful life and residual values of property, plant and equipment each year. No changes to these useful lives have been considered necessary for all other items of property, plant and equipment. Management has set residual values for all classes of property, plant and equipment as zero. The rates applied per annum are as follows:

DESCRIPTION	YEARS	RATE
Motor Vehicles	4	25%
Computer Equipment	4	25%
Plant & Equipment	5	20%
Furniture & Fittings	5	20%
Buildings	50	2%

Where the items of property, plant and equipment are revalued, depreciation is based on the gross replacement cost.

3.2.3 Government Grants

Capital grants related to assets, including non-monetary grants at fair value, are presented in the statement of financial position as deferred income under non-current liabilities and are recognised as income on a systematic and rational basis over the useful life of the asset. They exclude those forms of government assistance which cannot reasonably have value placed upon them and transactions with government which cannot be distinguished from the normal trading with other entity.

Grants related to income are credited to the statement of comprehensive income. Non-monetary grants are valued at nominal amounts based on management estimates.

3.3 Cash and cash equivalents

For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents comprise cash in hand, short term investments and bank balances.

3.4 Liabilities and provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Commission has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events and a reliable estimate to the amount of such obligation can be made. Obligations are payable at the demand of the creditor or within one year of the statement of financial position. Liabilities payable after one year from the statement of financial position date are treated as non-current liabilities in the statement of financial position.

3.5 Foreign currency transactions and balances

While the Commission's records are maintained in Zimbabwean Dollars (ZWL), some of its transactions are conducted in foreign currency. Transactions in foreign currencies are translated to Zimbabwean Dollars (ZWL) at rates of exchange ruling at the time of transactions. Transactions and translations gains and losses arising from conversion or settlement of foreign debts are dealt with in the statement of comprehensive income in determination of the operating income.

3.6 Employee Benefits

Employee benefits are the consideration given by the Commission in exchange for services rendered by employees. Retirement benefits are provided for the Commission's employees through independently administered defined contribution of defined benefit funds, including the National Social Security Authority. Contributions to the defined contribution fund are charged to income as they fall due. The cost of retirement benefits applicable to National Social Security Authority is determined by the systematic recognition of legislated contributions.

3.7 Going concern assumption

Management has assessed the ability of the Commission to continue operating as a going concern and believe that the preparation of these financial statements on a going concern is still appropriate.

3.8 Subsequent events

There has been an adjusting event which occurred after the balance sheet date but just before the signing of the Financial Statements. This is the case of Chisango and others lawsuit which was decided in favour of complainants by the courts.

3.9 Donations

The Commission donations from Gesellschaft Fur International Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) amounting to ZWL8 731 529.00 in the form of training capacitation, Microsoft office and Teams licences, combatting corruption programs, venues for Strategic Plan review and National Anti-Corruption Strategy work plan and consultancy for the Public Service Anti-Corruption module. Gesellschaft Fur International Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) procured and paid all the service providers on behalf of the Commission.

The Commission also received capacitation donation from Transparency International Zimbabwe for workshops, zoom meetings, National Anti-Corruption Strategy work plan, Sub Committee Workshops, United Nations Anti-Corruption Day, Africa Anti-Corruption Day Commemorations, and Zimbabwe Broadcasting Corporation Programs. As at completion of financial statements TIZ had not provided detailed breakdown of expenses they incurred. TIZ also procured and paid directly to service providers on behalf of the Commission.
